America is an English-American folk rock band that originally included members Gerry Beckley, Dewey Bunnell and Dan Peek. All three were sons of British mothers and American fathers stationed at the US Air Force base at RAF West Ruislip and all three attended London Central High School at Bushey Hall in the mid-1960s where they met while playing in two different bands. They began making music together starting with borrowed acoustic guitars and dubbed themselves America, honoring the name of the homeland they had hardly ever seen during their travels around the world. They released their debut album in 1971. One of the songs, originally called "Desert Song" got great audience response and was re-titled "A Horse with No Name". It became a major worldwide hit in 1972, selling over one million copies and being awarded a gold disc. America went on touring and producing many albums until today. Recently, in late

January 2011, Beckley and Bunnell announced that they were working on a new album at a studio in Nashville, Tennessee. That album, entitled Back Pages, consisted of cover versions of oldies hits such as "Time of the Season" and "America". It was released on July 26, 2011, just two days after Dan Peek's death.

Lyrics by Dewey Bunnell

On the first part of the journey
 I was looking at all the life
 There were plants and birds and rocks and things
 There was sand and hills and rings
 The first thing I met was a fly with a buzz
 And the sky with no clouds
 The heat was hot and the ground was dry
 But the air was full of sound

I've been through the desert on a horse with no name
 It felt good to be out of the rain
 In the desert you can remember your name
 'Cause there ain't no one for to give you no pain
 La, la ...

After two days in the desert sun
 My skin began to turn red
 After three days in the desert fun
 I was looking at a river bed
 And the story it told of a river that flowed
 Made me sad to think it was dead

After nine days I let the horse run free
 'Cause the desert had turned to sea
 There were plants and birds and rocks and things
 there was sand and hills and rings
 The ocean is a desert with it's life underground
 And a perfect disguise above
 Under the cities lies a heart made of ground
 But the humans will give no love
